Well it's off to Baltimore for the first phase (Friday June 1). Mike will get poked and probed and hopefully if all is well his surgery will start at 6:00 am on Monday June 4th. http://lds-syndrome.net/Joomla/components/com_fireboard/uploaded/images/topcrab.gif

Hopefully we'll get some time to visit the Inner Harbor.:laugh:

Back from Pre-OP

Well I can't say that preop testing was easy we spent 5 hours at John Hopkins. The surgeon wanted some additional tests and as always the hospital/insurance stuff was out of sync. But we got through it and had a great day afterall. We went to the National Aquarium and had dinner at Houlihan's.
