

---

The Day of Surgery

Posted by admin - 2007/06/12 02:51

---

Mike slept well (I didn't) and was in good spirits. Everything is a go and the surgical team is TOPS!
Unlike CHOP, Hopkins even provides wireless connectivity. I'll post some pictures and a short movie later.

=====

Re:The Day of Surgery

Posted by admin - 2007/06/12 03:14

---

Mike went on the heart-lung machine at 10:05 so far good news is that the surgeon feels he can spare the valve. He didn't know for sure until he was able to look at it closely.

=====

Re:The Day of Surgery

Posted by fran - 2007/06/12 08:23

---

:P Glad to hear all went well. I thought there was only one surgery at a time. Was not aware that he got a double whammy. Must be a strong kid with a kick butt will. Good for him.

By the way Mr. Walker - this site is NOT friendly for non techy individuals. I had to have help from a rocket scientist to be able to get to here and then to send this message. FIX IT!!!!

Best of Luck with recovery and have a safe trip home when the time comes.

=====

Re:The Day of Surgery

Posted by admin - 2007/06/12 15:57

---

Fran, your right but not totally sure how to make it easier. Any ideas you can send my way will be appreciated.
al

=====